

B. A. IV Semester (Generic Elective)

MONETARY ECONOMICS

Teaching hrs/week: 02

No. of Credits: 02

Objective:

This paper exposes students to the theory and functioning of the monetary and financial sector of the economy.

Module-1: Introduction:

Money- Meaning, Functions, Static and Dynamic Functions, Supply of money, Meaning, Measurement- Index numbers, Theories of Value of money- Cash Transaction and Cash Balance Approach, Inflation and Deflation Money market- Meaning, Organization, functions and defects, Capital Markets- Meaning, Structure, functions and defects, Money and Capital market reforms in India

Module-2: Banking:

Meaning, Types, Functions, credit creation, Portfolio Management, Banking instruments- e-Banking, credit and debit cards, ETF, RTGS and NEFT, NPA of Banks , Functions of central Bank, Methods of credit control, Role of central Bank and , Monetary and Fiscal Policies

References:

1. Meir, G Kohn (1993): Money, Banking and Financial Markets
2. Roger Ley Roy Miller and David D Van Hoose (1993) Modern Money and Banking (3rd edn)
3. Mishra and Puri: Monetary Economics
4. M. C. Vaish: Monetary Economics
5. Kulkarni and Kalkundrikar: Monetary Economics
6. Monetary Economics: M. L. Seth
7. Theory and Banking: R. Parameshwaran and & S. Natarajan

ಮುಖ್ಯಸ್ಥರು
ಅರ್ಥಶಾಸ್ತ್ರ ಅಧ್ಯಯನ ಮತ್ತು ಸಂಶೋಧನಾ
ವಿಭಾಗ ಗುಲಬರ್ಗಾ ವಿಶ್ವವಿದ್ಯಾಲಯ, ಕಲಬುರಗಿ.